

PKMS Word Export Fixture

The vault keeps every note as a plain text file on disk. Nothing hides in a database and nothing needs an app to read it back.

Ingest runs once per day and never edits an old entry. Each run adds new notes and leaves the rest of the vault alone.

A good tool does one small job well and then gets out of the way. This document exists to test text extraction from a word processor export.